

U. S. RESENTS BRITISH ACTION IN NICARAGUA

CURRENT COMMENT
By Chester H. Rowell

BEFORE you propose to amend the Constitution, first read it. If this rule were followed, the widely touted proposal to give the large states more Senators would never have been started. For this is the only thing in the Constitution that can not be amended at all, even by the method of amendment provided in the Constitution.

Three fourths of the states could abolish the President and set up a king; could abolish the House of Representatives and set up a Senate; could repeal the Bill of Rights and set up a state religion. There is no limit except one limit to the things that can be done by changing the Constitution, even against the protest of one-fourth of the States. But that limit is absolute. No state can be deprived of its equal representation in the Senate without its own consent. That one amendment, and that alone, would have to be made by the unanimous vote of all the states. New York can not have more Senators than Arizona until Arizona so votes.

OF COURSE, the same thing is also true of all the proposed "liberal" liquor bills. They are all unconstitutional: every one. No law legalizing beer or wine; no law "defining" the alcoholic percentage so as to permit an appreciable "kick"; no law leaving it to the states, and no law for the sale of beer, wine or spirits by a government monopoly, is possible under the Constitution. The Constitution says so, and the Supreme Court has already so decided. Infinite agitation would be saved, if the agitators would only read the Constitution first.

THE smart-Alecks tell us that the American people are mostly morons, and that the tremendous increase in high schools and colleges is only a waste of effort, to educate the uneducable.

LOOK at the list of "best sellers" and see. At the very top are still works of fiction, but they are mostly good fiction. And close after come "The Story of Philosophy," "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," "The Man Nobody Knows," and "The Christ of the Indian Road."

THESE are not books for the intellectual elite. They were not written for "fit" audience, though few. The rare products of our highest culture, the ones for whom universities would be made if only the choicest spirits were admitted, may read them incidentally, but they are more likely to read the original authorities, of which these are the derivatives.

These are books, not for the intellectuals, but for the intelligent; not for the learned, but the educated. They are for precisely the typical product of this derided "mass education." They are good books, wise books, stimulating books. And in no country in the world, save this twentieth-century America, could they ever have found enough readers to make them best sellers.

IF THIS were the ancient world, and we still believed in Nemesis, some Sophokes would make a tragedy of pursuing Fate out of the troubles of Frank L. Smith, Senator from Illinois both by appointment and by election, but evidently destined never to be Senator in office.

SMITH wanted Senator McKinley's seat. McKinley had voted right, on a great issue, but he had done it slavishly, because it was the party policy; not freely, because he believed it. McKinley was first defeated and then died. Smith falsified the issue, deceived the people, and accepted contributions from those who were suitors before his court. He won the election, but was turned back at the door. Now he, too, is stricken in health, and no longer able to prosecute his case. He will never be Senator.

WE MODERNS are not so credulous of the dark Powers that were once thought to shape events to our deserts. We know that all of this except what was done by the voluntary acts of men is accident or coincidence. So we hire lawyers to write briefs, instead of encouraging poets to write tragedies. No Aeschylus would bring immortal this shadow of a brooding Erynnis. Our records is the workmanlike prose of the Associated Press. Perhaps we are the poorer for it.

Italy Will Not Send Ships To Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Italy, it was learned here today, has no intention of sending warships to Nicaragua to look after her nationals there. The United States, under President Coolidge's interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine, normally would protect not only American, but also Italian and British interests in Nicaragua, and this government claims it was given such protection.

FAR AHEAD OF 1925

Citrus Shipments Vastly In Excess of Previous Peak, Reached in 1924

ORANGE COUNTY, in 1926, enjoyed its greatest agricultural year, with a total of $29,968,060.20 being received by ranchers, compared with $25,629,447.39 in 1925 and $27,320,882.30 in 1924. These figures were revealed today in the annual crop report compiled by County Horticultural Commissioner A. A. Brock.

The citrus shipments of 1926 exceeded those of 1924, the next best year, by more than a million boxes and, as a result, Orange county is pressing Los Angeles county for honors in planted acreage, production and income from citrus, according to the report.

"A study of all of the crops produced here will convince most anyone that we are primarily a valencia-growing county," Commissioner Brock commented. "The income from this crop alone will nearly double that of all the rest of the soil products produced in this State would object."

Disabled Steamer's Crew Flashes SOS Call and Abandons Craft

(By United Press)

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 24.—Twenty-eight members of the crew and Capt. Karl Rosenblad, of the lumber steamer Mary E. Moore, which founded off the entrance to Bandon harbor, late Wednesday, were aboard the motorship Admiral Peary, enroute to San Francisco, today.

A message received here by the marine station of the Federal Telegraph company said the crew of the Mary E. Moore had been rescued and that nothing could be done for the ship itself.

The crew of the disabled steamer abandoned the ship and was picked up in small boats. SOS calls had been sent out before the ship was deserted and the Admiral Peary got in closer and saved the crew.

Reports here said the starboard shaft of the ship had pulled out and that it was sinking rapidly.

Apple Crop Falls

"The apple crop was almost a total failure in this country, while apricots, avocados, berries, grapes, loquats and other miscellaneous orchard and vine products brought about the normal amount. One very interesting thing in the list of miscellaneous tree crops is the production from four pecan trees, which yielded an income of $360. We also have some 30 acres of non-bearing pecans, which may develop into an industry some time in the future.

The bean crop was especially good. We had a large acreage planted and the production was very high, but the income was rather low. The average of beans was very low, compared with the 1925 report.

The passengers were reported taken on by the City of Richmond and probably will be landed, either at Norfolk or at West Point, the Richmond terminal of the line.

One report said, the City of Richmond rammed the other vessel.

Great Britain's Dispatch Of Warship to Central America Not Welcomed

Washington Holds Lives Of British Subjects in War Zone Are Protected

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Great Britain today assured the United States that the British warship Colombo, dispatched to Nicaragua, will not land forces there. This was interpreted as removing the possibility of British intervention, to which the United States would object.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Faced with what some deemed a British threat against the Monroe Doctrine, the administration was determined today to settle the Nicaraguan turmoil without foreign interference. This government will not willingly permit a British warship to intervene, it was said.

The United States, however, will not interpret as intervention the presence of a British warship in Nicaraguan waters as a place of refuge for British citizens, so long as the warship does not interfere in the local situation.

Kellogg Replies to British

In a brief press reply to a British note, warning this government that it contemplated sending a British warship to Nicaragua. Secretary of State Kellogg said:

"Admiral Latimer (American commander) has been instructed from the beginning to protect foreign, as well as American lives and property and is doing everything he can to do so."

The state department today denied British suggestions that this government informed Great Britain that it could no longer guarantee protection of British lives and property in Nicaragua. The British note used the alleged absence of such American guarantees as justification for sending British warships there.

British Note Stirs Congress

The British note, delivered February 22 to the American minister at Managua, caused excited and contradictory comment among members of congress.

Some senators viewed it as an insult to the United States and a challenge to the Monroe Doctrine. Others interpreted it as a friendly British move to strengthen the administration's justification of American intervention in face of congressional opposition.

Hitherto, it had been tacitly understood the United States would care for foreign nations' interests in the western hemisphere. The British note used the argument that foreign countries should leave such policing to this government, according to White House interpretation.

Ugly Situation Hinted

If Britain now should carry out her contemplated action, "she might create a very ugly situation," according to Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, member of the foreign relations committee.

Chairman Borah, of that committee, was skeptical of the British move. Already we have in Nicaragua a naval force "sufficient to reduce the country to ruins overnight," he suggested, adding this query:

"What foreign lives have been lost; what foreign property has been destroyed?"

Contradictions in the British note were pointed out on all sides. While threatening to send a warship to protect British interests because the United States cannot guarantee to protect them, the note said Britain thanked the United States "for its past assistance."

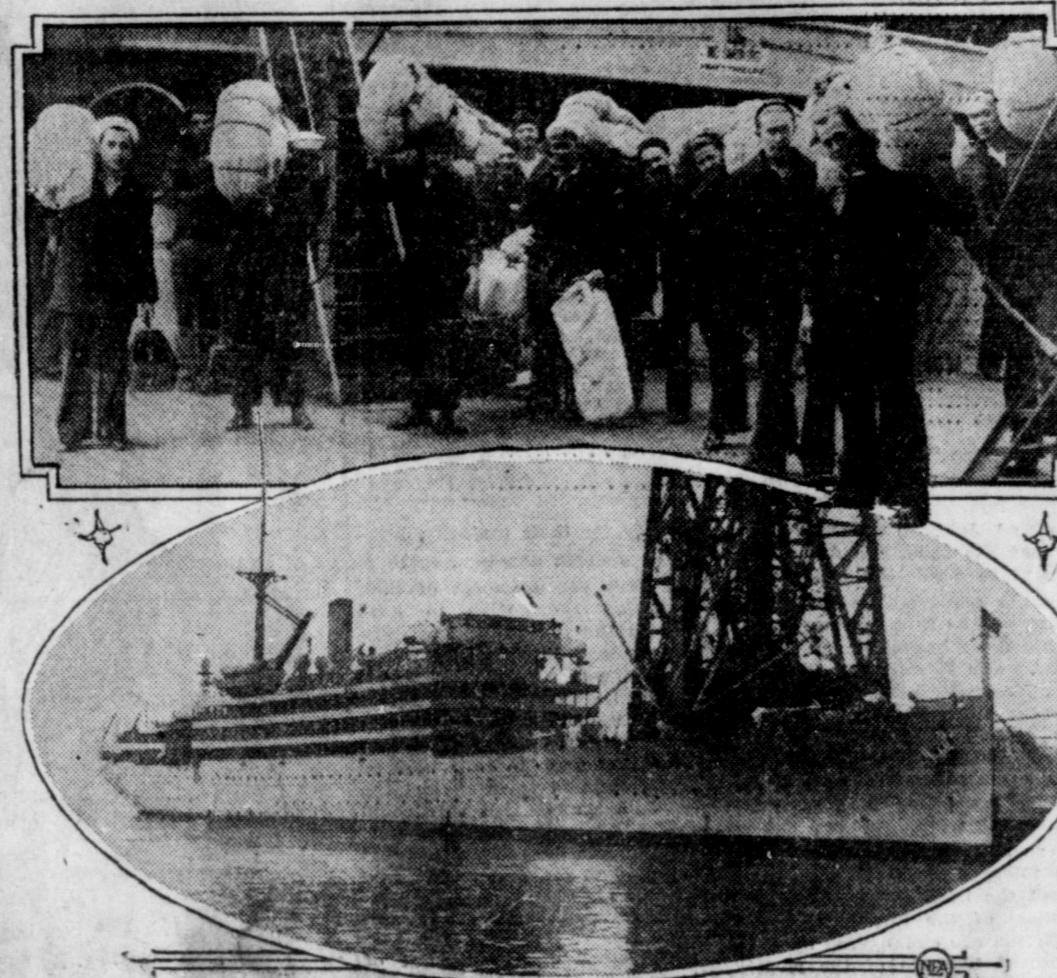

Call Course Helpful

British sources here professed surprise that anyone saw in the dispatch of a warship a possible infringement of the Monroe Doctrine, intimating, instead, that Britain's course would be "helpful" to America. The latter observation was unexplained, but taken to mean the U. S. government could use the British move as justifying a stern policy in cleaning up Nicaragua.

Meantime, two state department

SENATORS REED AND ROBINSON IN BITTER TILT

Sharp Language Passes in Debate on Resolution By Missourian

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Fighting language passed between Senator Robinson, Republican, Indiana, and Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, in the senate debate to-day over the Reid resolution to extend life on his committee investigating election campaigns.

Reed charged that Reid is seeking publicity to attain the Democratic presidential nomination and Reid returned with a speech characterizing Robinson's remarks as "cowardly" insinuations.

Reed referred to Reid as "unscrupulous" so often that the senator laughed.

Reed retorted: "The senator from Indiana need not take my years in account, neither here nor any other place, nor need any other man. I am at least respectable."

Robinson had said he would late President Wilson did," but added, "his investigation has been purely political. It provided him with publicity. If he can rattle around the country in an omnibus until the next Democratic National committee, he will need no public campaign fund of his own."

Robinson referred to Reid as brought in fairly high returns. We had a very large acreage of tomatoes. The tonnage, however, was materially reduced, due to the attack of western blight. This crop continues to grow in importance yearly and no doubt will increase annually for a good many years to come.

A study of all of the crops produced here will convince most any one that we are primarily a valencia producing county. The income from this crop alone will very nearly double that of all of the rest of the soil products produced in this county.

When we consider the size of this county and the total income, we can see that practically every available acre has been made to produce the maximum and our future horticultural development lies in converting some of our fertile land into more profitable crops than are now being grown. There was a considerable acreage of walnuts taken out last year and the new plantings in the county seem to be largely avocados and valencias."

dia ran aground, 14 miles east of the bell buoy entrance of Kodak harbor, and was wrecked.

Two hours after the Scandia had grounded, the crew was reported safe ashore, having taken off in small boats. Six men, including the radio operator, were left aboard when the boats first put off, but one boat was returned for them.

First word of the disaster came in an SOS call copied by the radio station at Kodiak, at 12:58 a. m. Word was spread among the town folk and in a few minutes several small fishing boats were headed to the open sea to render whatever aid possible.

At 1:45, the Scandia reported the rescue boats were approaching, but, because of the high seas, could not get near. The crew then started pulling away, as the boat commenced to break up rapidly.

Word that all the crew was safe reached here at 3 a. m., by radio. The boat, however, was a total loss, it was reported.

The Scandia had been cruising in Alaskan waters for the last three or four months in the interests of the fishing industry, and had on board a group of men representing the international fisheries commission.

3 BELIEVED LOST IN ARCTIC GALE

CORDOVA, Alaska, Feb. 24.—Three men were believed to have perished at sea in their craft, a small fishing boat, loaded with cargo of mail and baggage, during a fierce arctic gale, which has raged for several days.

The boat, piloted by A. Hamilton and carrying two passengers, Clifford Marr and Edward J. Rost, left here Sunday for the U. S. naval radio station at Hinchinbrook Island, 50 miles away.

The weather was clear and they hoped to make the island before nightfall. In the meantime, a furious storm broke.

A searching craft returned here today, after covering the course supposedly taken by the lost ship. No trace of the boat was found and hope was abandoned.

Rost was a naval radio operator assigned to the Hinchinbrook Island station.

BRITISH WARSHIP IS SENT TO NICARAGUA

LONDON, Feb. 24—Great Britain has decided to send a cruiser to Nicaragua and the admiralty informed the United Press today that H. M. S. Colombo was due there tomorrow. The vessel was believed to have left the British West Indies naval station Tuesday.

The Colombo, the foreign office said today, would act as a place of refuge for British nationals in the event of further fighting.

Deny Doctrine Infringement

British authorities informed the United Press today they were unable to see how the dispatch of the Colombo to Nicaragua could be interpreted as an infringement of the Monroe Doctrine. The vessel was being sent, it was explained, purely for pacific purposes to aid in the removal of refugees in the event the United States could not protect the British population of the country.

The foreign office statement to-day said Charles C. Eberhardt, U. S. minister to Nicaragua, had been unable to guarantee protection of British lives and property in Nicaragua.

Replies to questions at the foreign office, the spokesman for the British government said Britain did not expect to improve on the protection already provided by U. S. warships, sailors and marines in Nicaragua, but that the British ac-

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT
Do you remember the story of President Lincoln's weeping aside from the cause of a baby's tears?

Let the poignancy of your own grief lead you to become sensitive to the anguish of others that you will never fail to feel and to show your sympathy for them.

There seems to be so little you can do for one who sorrows, but it will help him if he knows you care.

Jones, state deputy, of San Jose; past state deputy, Dr. Slavick, of San Francisco; Pat Cooney, grand knight of Hollywood council, and others.

That these noted officers are present is due to the energetic zeal of George F. Nash, who is deputy for this district and under whose supervision the degree work is being handled.

Negotiations had been completed today by Charles G. Seamans for the purchase of the southwest corner of North Broadway street and Santa Clara avenue. The seller is F. E. Farnsworth. The consideration is said to have been approximately $11,000.

The property has frontage of 130 feet on Broadway and 190 feet on Santa Clara.

As a result of the sale, two new residences will be erected on the property before the coming summer has passed. Seamans contemplates construction of a $15,000 residence on the corner.

Noted Chicago millionaire and husband of Gamma Walska, grand opera singer, was a visitor, today, in Laguna Beach.

NOTED CHICAGO
MILLIONAIRE IS
LAGUNA VISITOR

Voiceing the belief that Laguna Beach is destined to become one of the best known resorts in the west, Harold F. McCormick, noted Chicago millionaire and husband of Gamma Walska, grand opera singer, was a visitor in the Artist's Colony today.

Mccormick, who is rated among the 10 richest men in the United States, came to Orange county to visit Summer Crosby, writer and psychologist, who is living in Laguna Beach. McCormick was taken on a tour of the city by H. H. Henshaw, president of the realty board.

"From what I have seen of Laguna Beach and from what I have heard, I am willing to predict that Laguna Beach is certain to take her place among the leading resorts in the west," McCormick declared. "You have a beautiful city here and living conditions must be delightful."

Mccormick's wife is in Paris at the present time. Rumors in circulation to the effect that she planned to seek a divorce were subsequently denied by McCormick in an interview in New York.

The Chicago millionaire has been an art patron for many years, numbering among his closest friends, artists and writers.

Second Travelers

An unusual and delightful treat was experienced last Monday by members of Ebell's second travel section who with a few guests, were taken by special bus, to the big Barker Brothers Furniture store in Los Angeles.

They reached their destination at 1:30 o'clock and were met in the spacious store foyer by Edgar Harrison Wileman, lecturer and consulting decorator with the firm. He piloted the party to most of the many departments of the store, explaining in comprehensive manner, the outstanding features of each. Of the features of the trip, Mrs. Minnie McCall Collins, a section member, gives the following interesting account.

"The building, Italian in style, is said to be the largest of its kind in the world, devoted exclusively to furniture and home furnishings. It has thirteen floors totaling over eleven acres of floor space. The main foyer is of Roman and Spanish design.

"The auditorium on the eleventh floor seats 500. The walls of this room are made of panels representing 'All Nations,' each panel containing a picture of natives and the national flower of the respective nations. This auditorium is used for lectures on interior decorations, paghants and organ recitals, also by many clubs and organizations of Los Angeles. The Marie Louise tea room and beauty parlors are also on this floor.

"The sixth floor is given over to dining room furniture. The oblong dining table and the beautifully carved doors of the new china closets are the newest features. Seventy-five per cent of the new Spanish houses are fitted with furniture showing the Spanish features. Much of it being metal and tile. Solid walnut predominates in furniture in the early American or Colonial types.

"A model dining room fitted up in Colonial furniture with swan neck and pineapple finials was especially attractive.

"The Old English paneled room is made of panels taken from a manor 300 years old or during Queen Elizabeth's reign and are of carved oak. The Shakespearean mantel contains panels with many Shakespearean characters carved thereon.

"Most of the antique pieces are from Italy and Spain and are hundreds of years old. A Tyscan bed carved with a coat of arms and an old Phoenician bed are especially attractive. A hand-woven Flemish tapestry 200 years old, worth $30,000, a hand-woven Persian rug, 100 years old, made of silk and wool, worth $50,000, a smaller one made of silk and gold, a very large Italian painting in the art gallery, entitled 'The Flight Into Egypt,' containing figures which represent the downfall of Paganism and the uplift of Christianity are a few of the most wonderful works of art described.

"The tiled patio with its potties, fountains, metal and tile furniture, should not be overlooked, nor the faithful copy of a Parisian street with its open tea rooms. The Modes and Manners shop on the third floor shows the latest in home furnishings from Paris."

Members who enjoyed the courtesy of the management are now anticipating attending the Rhymochromatic Musical pageant to be held in the auditorium of the store, from March 21 to 29 at 2 p.m. each day.

Booklets on S. A.
Bring Permanent Residents Here

So potent was literature on Santa Ana and Orange county, concerning the advantages to be had here by home-seekers, that Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Patton, of Chicago, packed their bags a few hours after receipt of the booklets and, before a week had elapsed, were in Santa Ana to become permanent residents.

This was the message of Patton, himself, who called at the chamber of commerce to express to Secretary George Raymer his appreciation for the descriptive booklets. Patton for 50 years was sales manager of the Marshall Field company, in Chicago, for the states of Indiana, Michigan and Ohio, and later accepted an executive position in the offices of the company.

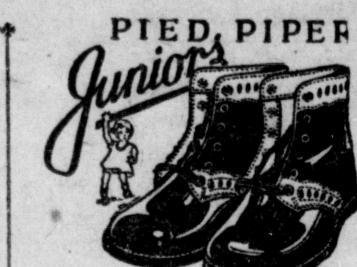

"We have decided on Santa Ana and have come here to stay," said Patton. The Pattons are located at 816 North Broadway.

Financial Help

SOME PEOPLE think that to incur a debt at the bank is in itself unwise, or a reflection on their business standing. Certainly this is not the case where the debt is contracted for legitimate business purposes.

Incurring debt so that one may live beyond one's income is something that no thrifty person would do, but wise borrowing is an encouragement to thrift and industry.

Very few business men can so conduct their business affairs that at no time will they need to borrow money. Situations are constantly arising in which the help of the bank is required. How important it is that our personal conduct when we are building character and capacity, be such that in the conduct of our affairs later on, when striving for success in business and life, we shall merit the confidence and help of the bank.

Acid Stomach

Phillips Milk of Magnesia

Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

The Delphian Circle will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. C. F. Smith, 1717 North Broadway. Miss Jennie Lashby will be featured on the program and will talk on current happenings in China.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping. When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "fruity laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, sold by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

$250,000 LOSS IS CAUSED BY JACINTO FLOOD

One human life was lost, scores of animals were drowned and $250,000 damage was done when a wall of water, 12 feet high, rushed down the San Jacinto river following a break, last week in the dam of the Hemet Water company, 32 miles above San Jacinto, according to a statement today by H. Clay Kellogg, who has been retained as consulting engineer to develop plans for protection work on the San Jacinto river.

Kellogg returned here last night from a conference with officials of a levee district, organized for protection work on the river and an investigation of the flood situation there.

The break in the dam occurred at a point where a "saddleback" had been filled 12 feet high with mud, the dirt filling giving away under the pressure of water in the reservoir, Kellogg said.

The city of San Jacinto escaped complete destruction only by a miracle, the engineer said. "The nature of the current of the stream and the influence of small washes coming into the river from the north side saved the city."

Kellogg will reorganize the flood control system and may recommend enlargement of the present boundaries of the levee district, he intimated. Funds for protection work are derived from assessments on properties in the district and by contributions from individuals and corporations outside of the district, who are benefited by the work.

JURIST UNABLE TO MEND BROKEN HOME

When trial of a divorce case fell through, yesterday, and the complaints of both husband and wife were dismissed, an effort by the judge to effect a reconciliation failed, despite the tears of the wife's attorney, who backed the court's plea for reunion.

Dr. Arthur Robbins, of Seal Beach, and his wife, Edith Robbins, of Loma Linda, will not become reconciled, it was definitely stated by the doctor's attorney, after the courtroom scene.

The physician's divorce petition was dismissed only for the purpose of filing a new complaint when the required statutory period has expired, said Kenneth H. Burns, counsel for Dr. Robbins. The first divorce complaint had been premature, because Dr. Robbins was in error as to the date of separation from his wife, which error developed at the trial yesterday. It caused dismissal of his case by Burns.

When that happened, former Judge W. H. Thomas, counsel for Mrs. Robbins, also moved dismissal of her cross-complaint for divorce. Judge James L. Allen thought he saw an opportunity for mending a broken home. In a few well chosen words, he advised Dr. Robbins and his wife to "get together," wipe out the past and bury the hatchet. He then granted the defense motion to dismiss the cross-complaint.

"Thank God!" burst from Thomas, who began weeping. Other eyes in the courtroom were wet. Only Attorney Burns was unmoved. "There will be no reconciliation," he remarked grimly, outside of the courtroom.

FAIRS ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD SESSION

The Southern California Fairs association, organized by the boards of directors of fairs in Riverside, Orange, San Bernardino, Imperial, Los Angeles, Ventura and San Diego counties, will meet at 10 a. m., Saturday, San Bernardino, according to notices received today by Orange county members of the association.

The chief purpose of the meeting is to co-ordinate the purchase of supplies, arrange a circuit for entertainment and take other steps necessary to reduce the expenses of holding the fairs.

George Raymer, J. R. Hunt and Frank Purinton, of Santa Ana, and H. A. Lake, of Garden Grove, will attend the meeting to represent the Orange County Fair association.

Court Postpones Trial of Action

Trial of the suit brought by the Old Colony Finance company and R. C. Cooper against Salvador Argeneau was postponed today by Superior Judge H. G. Ames when Albert Trujillo, attorney for the defendant, failed to arrive from his home in San Bernardino.

Trujillo sent a message to court, saying that his car had become hopelessly mired in Santa Ana canyon and that it would be impossible for him to make his way through.

The suit involved a claim for $381.65 damages on account of an automobile wreck in Santa Ana canyon, in 1925.

IDEAS and Ideals

A. V. NAPIER

Some question was raised on the street this week as to whether or not the people of Newport Beach did the right thing in voting improvement bonds at this time. The argument was that the people should not burden themselves with further taxes until business conditions are improved. In the debate which followed it developed that the argument was unsound and that the people of Newport Beach took exactly the right step in voting for the bonds. The opinion reached was unanimous that the best time for voting improvement bonds is during a period of quiet business.

Bonds which the people of Newport Beach elected to issue recently do not have to be redeemed at once. Money for the proposed improvements can be had at once by the sale of the bonds, but the payment of the money to redeem the bonds is spread out over a period of many years. If business conditions were never expected to improve, of course nobody would want to vote for bonds at any time, but the people of Newport Beach know that conditions will improve, and that the bond money can be repaid while conditions are more prosperous.

In the meantime, the improvement work can be started. Men who have been seeking work can be earning money, which will find its way into circulation and in a measure improve present business conditions. Business conditions throughout the country generally are supposed to be at low tide. The activity at Newport Beach will help to turn the tide and start a little wave of prosperity throughout the territory where its influence is felt.

People who visit the various beaches this spring will be struck by the contrast between the comparative lack of activity at other beaches and the thriving atmosphere at Newport Beach. Nearly everybody is pleased to see progress, even away from home. People from the outside who visit Newport Beach this spring and summer will mark the place down as one of the most progressive places on the coast. They may be expected to have a good word for Newport Beach wherever they may go.

The Mills of God, apparently, are not the only allegorical machines that grind slowly. In its decision on the feasibility of the proposed Prado dam, at the head of Santa Ana canyon, the state engineer's office is making quite a record for un hurried deliberation. A meeting at which the decision was expected to be officially announced was scheduled for last week, but was postponed on account of high water. No new date has been set. Officially, however, word has come from the state engineer that the whole water conservation plan has been approved. Boring at the proposed dam site located the bed rock a bit deeper than had been anticipated, but not sufficiently to discourage the plan. The county supervisors are holding themselves in readiness to submit the matter to the voters immediately when given official permission.

CONSTRUCTION OF 2 JETTIES AT HARBOR TO BEGIN BY MAY

City Planning
To Be Discussed
By S. A. Realtors

City planning will be the general topic for discussion at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Realty board at Kettner's cafe Friday. It was announced today by Carl Mock, president of the organization.

James Metzgar, a member of the city planning commission, and a member of the realty board, will be in charge of the meeting.

Plans for Improvement Will Be Completed Soon by Engineer Kressley

TIDES EXPECTED TO DREDGE CHANNEL

Capt. H. D. Pope, Former Government Employee, Is Assisting Beach Expert

Plans for the two jetties to be constructed at the entrance to Newport harbor will be completed within the next few weeks by Paul Kressley, city engineer, it was announced today. Kressley is being assisted in the work by Capt. H. D. Pope, ex-government engineer.

Actual work on the jetties is expected to start before May 1, according to Dr. Conrad Richter, president of the Newport board of trustees. The two jetties, which will be constructed with the $50,000 bond issue voted by the citizens of Newport Beach, will be constructed to last for all time, according to Dr. Richter.

Plans will call for the placement of the rocks to make it impossible for the jetties to slide apart.

The present western jetty is to be practically rebuilt.

Trustees are ready for action as soon as the engineer has the plans perfected.

Dredging of the harbor entrance will not be taken into consideration. It is believed that the rush of tide waters through the 900-foot entrance between the two jetties will wash out a channel of sufficient depth to allow large yachts to enter the bay.

BUILDERS PLAN MEMBER CAMPAIGN

The Orange County Builders' exchange has inaugurated a 60-day campaign to double its membership, it was announced today by Gene Douglass, secretary-manager of the organization. Each member of the exchange constitutes a committee of one to secure new members. The organization has 50 names on its roster at the present time.

With an increased membership, the exchange plans to launch several projects of benefit to the organization and to the community, Douglass said. The nature of these projects will be outlined at the regular monthly dinner meeting in the Women's clubroom in Orange next Tuesday evening.

A committee consisting of Ed Noe, Maurice Phillips and Allison Honer has been appointed by President Jules Markel to make arrangements for a program at the dinner. The meal will be served at 7 o'clock.

REALTORS TO INSTALL, HEAR HARRY CULVER

The annual inaugural banquet and ball of the Santa Ana Realty board will be held Saturday evening at St. Ann's Inn, and realtors of the city and county today were looking forward to the event in anticipation of meeting Harry Culver, immediate past president of the California Real Estate association, who made a remarkable record in state association affairs during his presidency in 1924.

Carl Mock is the new president of the Santa Ana board and tentative plans contemplate obligation of Mock to the oath of office by Lynn L. Shaw, the first president of the Santa Ana board.

Interest is added to this plan by the fact that Mock first became identified with real estate work by taking a position with Shaw and Russell, at that time one of the strongest real estate firms in the city. The partnership has since been dissolved, with Shaw and Russell each devoting their time to their individual properties.

The new officers who will be officially installed and obligated are, in addition to Mock, L. W. Briggs, John Knox, N. E. Wray, vice presidents; H. J. Selway, treasurer, and Stanley Goode, secretary.

J. C. Wallace, retiring president, will officiate as toastmaster. Wallace today laid emphasis on the point that the dinner program will be short and that dancing would start not later than 9 o'clock. Dinner will be at 6:30 o'clock.

The program will include the introduction of officers present from other realty boards in the county, vocal numbers by Mrs. Ruth Madener, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong, selections by the Bluebird Hawaiian trio, singing by Andy Anderson of "Santa Ana My Home Town," the song he composed in a recent contest here, and an address by Culver.

Motor Officers Conclude Patrol Of Flood Areas

Orange county's state traffic officers are back on their regular beats today, following almost a week of patrolling washed out roads and bridges.

The work of the state officers during the recent flood period stands out as the best of the last year, in the opinion of county officials, who pointed out that in many instances officers were forced to work for 16 and 22 hours at a time.

Danger of accidents to motorists unacquainted with the conditions of the roads south of Santa Ana and at places where bridges were weakened by water kept the state squad working overtime for many days.

"We are back to normal now, however, and all the men are on their respective beats," Captain Meehan said today.

NEW ASPHALT PLANT WILL BE FINISHED SOON

$25,000 Being Spent by Newport Firm to Replace
Factory Ruined by Fire

The new plant of the Orange County Asphalt company at Newport Beach will be completed within the next three weeks, according to a report today by Harry Swan, superintendent in charge of construction work. The old buildings and equipment of the company were destroyed by fire several months ago. The new structure and equipment will cost about $25,000, it is reported.

An innovation expected to result in the saving of at least 20 per cent of the oil used at the plant will be included in the plant, according to reports. The saving will be made in oil which has formerly been dumped out after the asphaltic qualities were removed. The oil formerly dumped will be refined for lubrication purposes.

The structure will more than double the capacity of the former plant, according to reports. It is expected that more than 300 barrels of asphaltic roofing and paving material can be produced each day when the plant starts operating. The old plant was capable of producing only about 150 barrels of asphalt per day.

More than 20 men are employed on the reconstruction work.

Three large stills through which the heavy oil from five wells is run are being constructed.

A large separator and a retort, for the purpose of separating water from the oil, are also to be installed.

Neither was used by the plant before. Two oil rigs which were destroyed by the fire are to be rebuilt.

The plant will start up on a small scale in about a week. A new warehouse also is to be constructed.

S. A. YOUTH PAINTS LONG BEACH CANVAS

An oil canvas panorama of the skyline at Long Beach has been painted by Lyle McLaren, 18-year-old Santa Ana, for the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce. The canvas measures 90 by 40 feet and will be tendered to the Pacific Electric company for use in the company's Main street station. It will hang directly above the entrance gates to trains. It will be encased in a heavy gilt frame with illuminative effects so that it may be observed from any section of the waiting room.

Young McLaren has been painting but a short time and the Long Beach canvas was his first large job. McLaren's talent was discovered by Wayne Goble, of the Goble Sign company. The painting contract was held by the Goble firm.

The canvas shows all of the large buildings in the downtown section of Long Beach, as well as a large expanse of beach.

BUILDERS' QUERIES ANSWERED

By Southern California Chapter
Associated General Contractors

Q: What will be the monthly payment, including interest at 7 per cent per annum to pay off a loan of $5600 in nine years?

A: $70.40.

Q: I would like to know how to compute the number of rolls of roofing paper necessary to roof my new four-room house?

A: Roofing paper contains 108 square feet of paper to the roll, which is sufficient to cover 100 square feet of roof area; the eight feet is allowed for laps.

Q: How can stucco be cleaned?

A: Usually, water turned onto the house from a hose will take off the dust and dirt blown onto it from the street. If this is not effective, the house should be cleaned with soap and luke-warm water and a brush.

Q: Please give me the information which will enable me to arrive at the approximate cost of a new house?

A: Southern California chapter, Associated General Contractors of America, Los Angeles, has prepared a statement which will enable you to determine the approximate cost from the floor area.

Q: I purchased a new home about seven months ago that had been completed about two months before I bought it. It is of wood frame and stucco construction. About two months after I moved into the dwelling a small crack appeared on the side wall, and now this crack is much larger and it extends from the top of the wall all the way to the bottom. What is the cause?

A: In all probability you purchased a house that was "built in a hurry." I conclude that perhaps one corner of the foundation was built on filled ground, or perhaps the entire foundation was built on filler ground, and was not given time to settle properly before the super-structure was started. The foundation is settling more rapidly in one place than in another, thus causing this crack. Or, it may be due to the quality of the stucco and improper application, but from the details that you have given in your letter, it is conclusive that the foundation is settling. The cause of this condition is more readily ascertained when the building is of masonry construction, with no exterior finish, than it is when the building is of wood frame and stucco (or plaster) construction.

PLANS MADE TO
GET TRACHOMA
UNDER CONTROL

Satisfactory arrangements for the control and elimination of trachoma among Mexican school children at La Habra, involving proper treatment to affected pupils under trained supervision as well as willing and intelligent co-operation on the part of Mexican parents, have been completed by the county health department, following a conference with the school authorities. It was announced today by Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer.

According to Dr. Presson, there has been a marked improvement in the situation since Miss Gretha Clark, county health nurse, took over the treatment of the affected children. Confirmation of Dr. Presson's report was had at the county superintendent's office, where Superintendent Mitchell expressed himself well pleased with the results accomplished by Miss Clark.

Denies Deportation Plans

Dr. Presson took occasion to deny that he had made any recommendations for the deportation of Mexican laborers, said to be trachoma carriers, or that he had advised such a measure. He explained however, that at a conference meeting, held last Sunday, in La Habra, and attended by a large number of Mexican residents, T. H. Obregon, Mexican vice consul, stationed at Los Angeles, touched upon certain phases of deportation proceedings as related to those who were trachoma carriers at the time of their entry into the United States.

In this connection, Dr. Presson commended the attitude of the Mexican consular officials who are co-operating with the county health authorities and the school officials in eradicating the disease.

Consul Urges Appreciation

At the La Habra conference, at which Dr. Presson and his assistant, Dr. Sutherland, were present, Consul Obregon not only advised the Mexican parents to co-operate in every possible way with the American officials, but urged them to be appreciative of the efforts made on their behalf. The Mexican government official told the Mexicans that not only are the American authorities trying to restore them to health, but are giving their children the same educational advantages as those offered American children.

An examination of Mexican adults at La Habra revealed a few cases of trachoma, Dr. Presson declared. The number, he added, is far below that anticipated. These cases now are under treatment.

Sheriff's officers today were held to make a search throughout Southern California for C. L. Rosecrans, 168 West Center street, Anaheim, who has been missing for a week.

will sell to jobbers besides filling the machines of the company. The factory has attracted the attention of other manufacturing companies and a representative of one large company made an attempt to purchase the big plant this week, it is reported.

Visitors See Gum Made
The visitors to the factory enjoyed seeing the gum made from the time it was mixed and rolled out with huge rolling pins, until it came out of the big revolving cylinders, colored in black and other hues. The candied nuts and mint, together with the gum, were everywhere in evidence, and each guest was presented with a box of the confections.

Besides the goodies now emanating from the factory, a general confectionery business will be added when the machinery is placed.

AT THE THEATERS

John Barrymore as he appears in "Don Juan," the picture which begins three-day engagement at the West Coast-Walker theater tonight.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

"Dame Chance" closes its engagement at the Yost Broadway theater tonight.

It is a forcefully-told story of the theater, following the fortunes of Gail Vernon, a small-time stock company actress, from that lowly beginning until her name was blazoned forth in electric lights on Broadway.

During her rise to stardom there is a paralleling romance of dramatic interest which knits her life with those of the playwright in whose play she finds her ultimate success, and the man to whom she sold herself on the auction block of life in order to get that opportunity.

The role of Gail Vernon is realistically portrayed by Julianne Johnston and will prove another big step forward to the goal of stardom for which this capable young woman is headed. Robert Frazer is forceful and romantic in the role of the playwright.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

The stage offering playing this week at Murphy's theater at Orana is the latest thing in modern farce comedy, it having not a serious vein in its entirety.

"Billy's Tombstones" is the name of the comedy and the name refers to a set of false teeth that the hero of the play is forced to wear in place of his real ones that were kicked out of his mouth in a football game.

The company is well cast, virtually all of the characters being of a more or less comedy nature. The action of the story occurs on a large ocean liner on its way across the Atlantic. The stage setting is attractive.

YOST THEATER

If you crave "thrills," if you enjoy the atmosphere of youth's romance, if you like to see justice vindicated and if you would have an unusual insight into life in the picturesquely timber country scene "God's Great Wilderness," which plays at the Yost theater tonight.

Here is a picture with some of the greatest thrills ever depicted on the screen. The race through the storm and the flood and the destruction of a bridge from which horses and riders are pitched headlong into a mountain torrent, are remarkable bits of acting, directing and photography.

PLANS MADE TO
GET TRACHOMA
UNDER CONTROLBARRYMORE IN
'DON JUAN' ON
WALKER SCREEN

John Barrymore is "Don Juan." That is the treat promised for local picture-goers at the West Coast-Walker tonight where this spectacular production opens for a run of three days.

Barrymore plays a dual role. First he appears as Don Juan's father, Don Jose; a courtly, punctilious, subtle Spanish aristocrat, who, discovering his wife is unfaithful, dies with this warning to his boy, Juan: "Destroy women or they will destroy you."

Next Barrymore appears as Don Juan, grown to manhood amid the magnificence of the Rome of the Borgias. The role, as developed in the picture, bears points of resemblance to that memorable character of the Renaissance lover which Barrymore played on the stage in Sam Bellini's "The Jester"; a silken, sensuous, seductive lover, who, with a smile on his lips, poisons the minds of the women who yield to his irresistible charms. Thus he becomes the destroyer.

Barrymore's magnetic personality has never, according to all reports, been more effectively projected than in this picture. Excellent as were his performances in "Beau Brummel" and "The Sea Beast," these achievements are said to fall into insignificance beside that of his "Don Juan"; the godlike pagan who made of his life the most glorious romance.

The romance has been screened against backgrounds of splendor that ravish the eye. Here is the pomp and pageantry of the Eternal City in its most gloriously beautiful period. And through it all is the tingling excitement of love as realized by the greatest lover of all ages.

In support of the star had a cast that includes such notables as Mary Astor, Willard Louis, Myrna Loy, John Roche, June Marlowe, Estelle Taylor, Helen Costello, Jane Winton, Lionel L'Ahern, Phyllis Haver, Helen Lee Worthing, Nigel de Brulier, Hedda Hopper, Sheldon Lewis, Emily Fitzroy, Gibson Gowland, Josef Swickard, Montagu Love, Warner Oland, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Philippe de Lacy.

COP APPOINTMENT
UNDER ADVISEMENT

Request by a delegation of Laguna Beach citizens that a traffic officer be stationed in that community for regular duty, was taken under advisement late yesterday by the county supervisors, who promised a decision next Tuesday.

Supervisor George Jeffrey, in whose district Laguna Beach is located, made the motion to postpone decision in the matter for a week. Jeffrey and other members of the board pointed out to the delegation that a traffic officer could not be assigned to duty in one community alone, but must be under the direction of the Orange county branch of the state motor vehicle division, presided over by Capt. Henry Meehan and Inspector Walter P. Greer.

No names of prospective appointees were presented before the board or mentioned in connection with the proposal.

AIR CLUB MEN HOLD PARTY ON FIRST BIRTHDAY

When the Santa Ana Air club celebrated its first birthday, last night, at a banquet in the American Legion hall, congratulations were extended the organization on the success of the first year's activities.

The aviators' club has grown from a membership of 20 to 85, it was pointed out. Sixty-five members attended last night.

Due to the remarkable growth of the Santa Ana Air club, the proposition of making the airport here one in the chain of fields in the United States, under the auspices of the National Aeronautical association, was broached by Capt. Charles H. Babb, secretary of the association.

The principal address of the evening was made by Dr. T. C. Young, of Glendale, chairman of the aviation committee of the California Development association. How the risks and hazards of flying have been exaggerated were told by Young.

Young Mentions Mules
Public confidence in aviation is increasing," Young said, advancing proof to support his statement. "Only eight pilots were killed last year through airplane accidents. The death toll of automobiles was 25,000 killed and another 7,000 injured. The records in Missouri show that 80 men died from being kicked by mules. Aviation is safer than mule skinning."

The record of the Western Air express, in flying 350,000 miles without a delay or the loss of an ounce of mail, was cited by the speaker to prove the efficiency of the air service.

Berle E. Morthland, commodore of the Santa Ana Air club, presided over the meeting.

Vaudeville Bill

Selections were given by Duke Atteberry and Kenneth Gilliam, vaudeville performers appearing in Yost's Broadway theater.

A welcome to the women present at the meeting was expressed by Joe Skidmore.

A three-reel film showed the methods employed by news cameramen in using airplanes to secure pictures and also showed the first planes of the Wright brothers and other pioneers in aeronautics. William Fox, past commodore of the Long Beach Air club, projected the film.

Aviators Form Club for Plane Crackers

A flyers' club, for the aviators of the Santa Ana Air club who have been in "crack up" with their ships, is the latest in aviation circles here.

It's the Dub club.

Membership is not solicited, in fact it is rather avoided. The complete roster now consists of two aviators, it was revealed at the meeting of the Santa Ana Air club at the birthday party last night.

Joe Skidmore, inasmuch as he had the worst "crack up" in his ship, was recognized as the biggest dub and elected president of the Dub club. Johnny Martin is the other member.

FIRST P.T.A.
CONCERT TO BE
ON MARCH 11

The first of the series of musical events to be given in Santa Ana under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association of the city will be held in the high school auditorium Friday night, March 11, presenting Grace Wood Jess, who is said to be acknowledged by those who know of her work, as America's finest costume folk song singer, it was announced today by the committee in charge of the course.

As an assisting artist, the singer and actress will present Alexander Kosulin, Russian pianist.

It was largely due to the interest and enthusiasm of the members of the junior chamber of commerce that the final lap in the ticket sale campaign was successful and the arrangements for the course finally completed, members of the committee said, in expressing their thanks to the young men in the organization.

Miss Jess' Work Praised
In preparation of Miss Jess' work, Clarence Gustlin, who has direction charge of the Parent-Teacher courses throughout the county, under the auspices of the music committee of the county Parent-Teacher association, of which Mrs. Joseph Thurston, of Laguna Beach is chairman, commented on the ovation accorded her appearance, two years ago, in Portland, Ore. Her concert was the outstanding number on the program of the national convention of music clubs, he declared.

"There was not even standing room left in Portland's largest auditorium when Miss Jess presented her beautiful program of folk songs of many nations," according to Gustlin. "Her work is as great a pleasure to the eye as to the ear and she radiates a charm of personality that makes her artistry supreme."

"The members of the Parent-Teacher association feel that they are, indeed, fortunate to be able to present Miss Jess to music lovers of Santa Ana and they hope for a capacity house to greet her."

Special Afternoon Concert
A special afternoon concert will be given March 11, in the high school auditorium, the entire proceeds from the sale of the tickets to students being turned over to the music department of the city schools for the purchase of additional supplies to advance the cause of music in Santa Ana, it was stressed. An admission price of 10 cents for the afternoon concert has been set for the grammar school children.

Season tickets for the general public have been placed on sale in Stein's stationery store, the White Cross drug store and the Santa Ana book store, or may be purchased from members of the Parent-Teacher association or the junior chamber of commerce, Gustlin said. Season tickets for the five events are $2, without the privilege of reserving seats. Reserved seats for the entire course may be purchased at $2.50, it was said.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 24.—Long Beach was unanimously granted permission to organize a junior college school district, by the state board of education, meeting here, yesterday.

The action was taken upon the showing by the petitioners that the new district would include boundary lines of the Long Beach high school district, embracing property with a total assessed valuation of $198,668.615.

Average enrollment in the high school for the last school year at Long Beach was 4,907, it was shown.

Long Beach is the third junior college district approved by the board at its present session. Santa Rosa and Glendale districts were approved Monday.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

THREE ALLEGED CHECK ARTISTS ARE ARRAIGNED

Charged with issuing a number of "cold" checks in Anaheim, last Saturday, three alleged check artists, Fred Bailey, R. F. Herzog and John Beebe, Glendale men, were arraigned yesterday before Justice Kenneth Morrison, in Santa Ana. Bail was set at $5000 in each case and preliminary examinations set for March 2, at 10 a. m.

Checks, aggregating $103, were passed in Anaheim, the checks being presented for small purchases, according to Anaheim officers. Two of the men, Bailey and Beebe, were arrested here last Saturday night, when they are said to have attempted to pass a check and after the police here had been warned that the men were believed to have operated in Anaheim.

More than $10,000 worth of checks were found in a small car, used by the men, by Officers Howard and Smithwick, who made the Santa Ana arrests, it was said. On a tip from Santa Ana police, Herzog was arrested in Glendale, a few hours later, officers explained.

Anaheim police said last night that the men were wanted in Los Angeles, Burbank, Glendale, Fullerton and Long Beach on charges of passing worthless checks.

AUXILIARY PLANS DINNER

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 24.—American Legion auxiliary members will entertain their husbands at a pot-luck dinner March 17, it was decided at a meeting of the organization Tuesday night at the Legion hall. At the meeting Tuesday night members of the Legion Auxiliary commemorated the birthday anniversary of George Washington. Mrs. Eugene Reber and Mrs. A. Dyckman were the hosts.

EXPLAINS EGG PRICE

HARTFORD, Ct., Feb. 24.—The reason for the high price of eggs, in Connecticut, at least, is clear to Dan Sullivan, of New Britain. Deer run wild and distract the attention of dogs from foxes, which are unrestrained in raiding hen coops. Hence extend the open season on deer, he argued to legislators.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hyder have been entertaining their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Rush, of Talbert, in their home since the flood swept over the Rush ranch.

Local members of the Mooseheart Lodge are busy with preparations for the Mooseheart Easter bazaar, which is planned for April 12. The next sewing day for the making of articles for the bazaar, will be held in Wintersburg on March 4, at which time Mrs. Eva Hicks will entertain in her home at Pasadena all day Tuesday. Included in the family company were Mrs. E. E. The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the Oceanview school finished on Monday the contest in which they have been engaged for a week. The three divisions with the captains and the total subscriptions to their credit are as follows: "Reds," Landy Ray, 24; "Greens," Henry Sizer, 30; "Blues," Sakia Asria, 21, a total of 75 subscriptions. One half of the amount collected goes to the local school, besides the individual prizes received by the pupils. A football equipment is the objective. A party, at which the losers in the contest are to serve the luncheon and the winners are to wash the dishes, is scheduled for this Sunday evening at the school as a fitting finish.

A number of the finest rabbits on the Hazard and Sparks farm in Wintersburg are being prepared for entrance in the Compton annual rabbit show, which is scheduled to open March 1.

The Fruta fish farm, located in Wintersburg, which has for several years been quite a show place, has now been made more interesting by the addition of an aviary. Canaries and parakeets are thus far the only birds on display. Large cages have been arranged for the birds, forming a pretty entrance to the fish farm grounds.

The fish farm, situated just east of Wintersburg, and owned by Harley Asria, a Japanese, suffered serious damage from the storm, 20 pairs of goldfish valued at $5 per pair, being lost in the open ponds when the surface waters cut into the ponds and the mud got in.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: James J. Hill

Sketches By Kroeser
Synopsis By Braucher

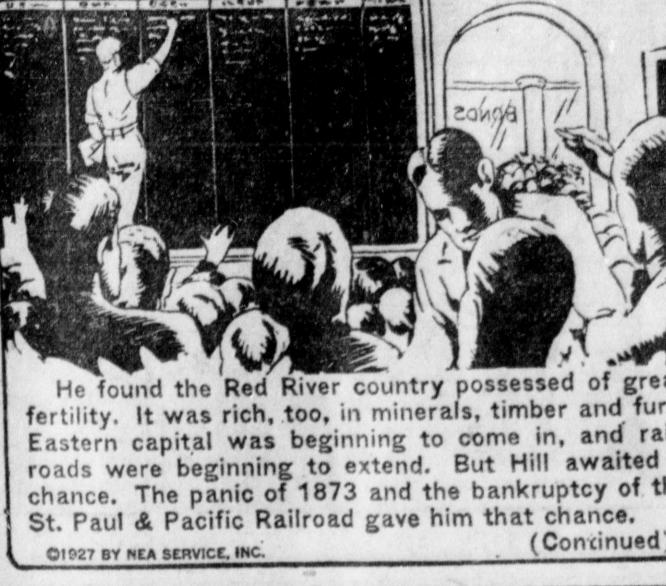

Hill became an agent for the first tiny railroad into St. Paul—the St. Paul & Pacific line—but at the same time kept a hold on the ship business he had built up. At that time goods and produce were carried to and from the vast Red River country by bullock train.

Gradually Hill built up trade with the Red River country, freight being carried down the river on flatboats.

In the early '70's Hill and a man named Kittson formed the Red River Transportation Co. Hill, with a dog-sled, explored the country.

He found the Red River country possessed of great fertility. It was rich, too, in minerals, timber and furs. Eastern capital was beginning to come in, and railroads were beginning to extend. But Hill awaited a chance. The panic of 1873 and the bankruptcy of the St. Paul & Pacific Railroad gave him that chance.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

As Clowny sailed away alone, he rather changed his cheerful tone. The others heard him shouting, "Someone rescue me from here!" The bit of smoke that held him high, sailed 'round and 'round, up in the sky. The thought that it might fade away filled Clowny up with fear.

However, there was naught to do, and no real sense in feeling blue. He realized that he was at the mercy of the breeze. Said he, "I hope I'm saved ere night, 'cause I might blow right out of sight!" And those who watched him closely saw him shaking at the knees.

Then Scouty shouted, "Have no fear. Perhaps you'll soon blow over here. Then you can jump back here with us, upon our cloud of smoke." And Clowny said "You're brave enough, but you don't know this trip is rough. For once I will admit that being caught out here's no joke."

Soon Clowny saw, up in the skies, a sight that almost hurt his eyes. A great big ball of fire. It seemed he'd reach it pretty soon. He sailed along and closer drew, and in a moment more he knew that he was being laughed at by the man up in the moon.

"Hi, ho, there, lad," he heard him call. "You'd best look out or you will fall. Why don't you come over here, and take a little rest. The smoke cloud that suspends you high, I fear will soon fade out and die." When Clowny stopped to think of this, he thought the plan was best.

A point of Mister Moon Man stood right close at hand where Clowny could reach out and grab a hold of it, so Clowny held on tight. And, as he hung there in the air, he saw his smoke puff wasn't there. Thus Clowny saved himself before the smoke passed out of sight.

Hate Germs!

We Hate Those We Wrong So Remember to Take Stock

By Olive Roberts Barton

A business man said one evening to a group of friends whom he and his wife were entertaining, after a discussion of national affairs, "Do you know what is ruining this country? Hate! Not racial or national hatred, just the plain individual brand. I find it in my personal contacts every day. Isn't it ridiculous?"

Strange that the following day at a lecture, the speaker remarked:

"Hate is the thief in the night that will eventually steal every good impulse unless carefully and systematically barred out of the state and federal politics. There is nothing in the world quite so ruinous as jealous hatred," he remarked. "To my mind the greatest of all commandments is, 'Thou shalt not hate'."

A new word called to your attention will often pop up unexpectedly over and over again that, if you have noticed. It almost seemed to be so with this old-new or new-old word "hate," for that night I read where a city booster had told the board of commerce in a certain town that more important than all the new industries they could induce to locate there, was the necessity of burying old feuds and personal animosity. "Bury your hate and work together," he advised.

My goodness! thought I. Is it so bad as that? Why didn't someone tell us about it before?

This "hate" business has us by the throat, it seems. Oh, well. It's winter and we hate the coal man, and the gas man, and the plumber, and the doctor, and the man who made alarm clocks. It will be different in May.

I picked up a magazine that contained a short play of Tolstoy's, the last he wrote, I believe. In it Fedy says, "You know we love people for the good we do them and hate people for the harm we do them."

There it was again, but with explanatory trimmings that supplied the missing factor in the equation. Indeed, it was the whole equation itself!

It is true! The people we hate most are often those we have wronged.

It is stock-taking time. Why not take stock of our besetting sins, including this word "hate."

How It's Done

Put 2 tablespoons of cream sauce in the bottom of individual cups or ramekin dishes. Drop into each, on top of the cream sauce, one raw egg. Sprinkle with grated cheese, cover with the remaining cream sauce. Stand the dishes in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate hot oven five minutes.

The cream sauce acts as a non-conductor, and if the oven is not very hot, bake them eight minutes. Serve at once in the dishes in which they are cooked.

Rouge Pots for Teachers

I take two lines—maybe it'll run a little over—to say hip, hip, hurrah for the San Franciscan principal who said that his teachers could rouge all they pleased, and it was nobody's business!

There has been no little prattle about the question "how you gonna keep 'em teaching in the school rooms?" It has always been my guess that the best way to keep teachers out of the profession was undue nagging at them about "setting examples," and ignoring the fact that, being girls, they naturally want to look like other girls, be they "shining examples" or otherwise. I would far rather send my daughter, if any, to a teacher with a cute bob and nice pink cheeks, even if from a rouge box, than to a frump teacher of the funny pages who took herself and her job as seriously as a hen trying to hatch an ostrich egg!

I'll Take the Job!

Here's good common sense, and another fig for "us feminists!" England will hire women customs officers to search women's baggage.

The innovation is being done not only in the name of modesty, but because the male searchers just wouldn't keep their hands clean, and all the feminine duds which had been pawed by them, had to be sent to the cleaner's. Uncle Sam, please take notice, and if you're going to give somebody the job of boss of the female searchers, and if you're going to pay about $50,000 a year, here am I, who, having had my duds pawed over in 14 different languages not long ago, know just how you would go about ruining everything the lady owns!

LOS ANGELES EXPERT TALKS BEFORE KIWANIS CLUB HERE ON VALUE OF ADVERTISING

Advertising copy that hits direct to the point and creates a desire for the article advertised produces better results than copy that has, as its basic feature, only cleverness, according to Carl Heintz, of the Heintz and Robertson advertising agency, in Los Angeles, who was the speaker, yesterday, at the meeting of the Kiwanis club.

The speaker stressed the value of mapping out a plan for advertising and strictly adhering to it, with the placement of copy only in recognized mediums. Among the mediums he named the newspaper, the magazine, the billboard, and the direct advertising plan.

"Advertising is not a commodity that can be wrapped in a package and handed to a customer," Heintz said, in asserting that advertising is too new for any one to tell just what it is.

"Advertising is a force, just the same as electricity," the expert said. "To be useful it must be directed and to intelligently direct requires knowledge, not alone of the fundamentals of advertising, but also of merchandising.

"Anything that can not be sold without advertising can be sold with advertising. First the product or service must be right.

Sales Are Accelerated

"All advertising can do is to accelerate the rapidity of sales—bring about a volume in a short time that, without advertising, might take years to develop.

"The big problem of industry today is selling. Ten years or more ago, the big problems were that of manufacturing and financing. From 1913 until 1923, we were in an advancing market. Buy what you would and hold long enough and you were fairly sure that the increase in price would more than offset the carrying charges.

"The day of the drummer with his cigars and funny jokes is gone. Instead of the cigars and funny jokes, which were practically his only weapons to influence business to his concern, has sprung up the tremendous force of advertising. Through advertising, the prospect is sold in advance of the salesman's call. The salesman's job is confined to getting the order. Advertising has stood the brunt of the hard selling job. It takes the salesman less time—he makes more calls in the same time and he sells more merchandise. Thus, through increased volume, selling costs are reduced.

"After the plan comes the real work. The big job is to get the greatest possible value out of the advertising dollar.

"In advertising, like in many other things, the cheapest is not usually the most economical.

Seks Out Market

"Advertising seeks out the people that are in the market now for your product or service. It keeps the salesman supplied with hot prospects.

"Advertising does the pioneering work and leaves the salesman free for the important job of closing the prospect.

"In most cases it's the plan that makes advertising a success or a failure.

"To be sure, the copy and layout of the individual advertisement is important, but if the basic plan is unsound, the individual advertisement, no matter how cleverly gotten up, cannot succeed."

In closing his address, the advertising expert shot a few "darts" at his auditors, including the following:

"Don't leave your advertising for your office boy to write and don't let the president play with it. Either get an advertising manager—not one that you can hire for $25 per week—but the sales manager do the job or go to an outside source.

"Don't advertise unless you have worked out a plan.

"Don't just advertise because your competitors do—you never will succeed with this attitude.

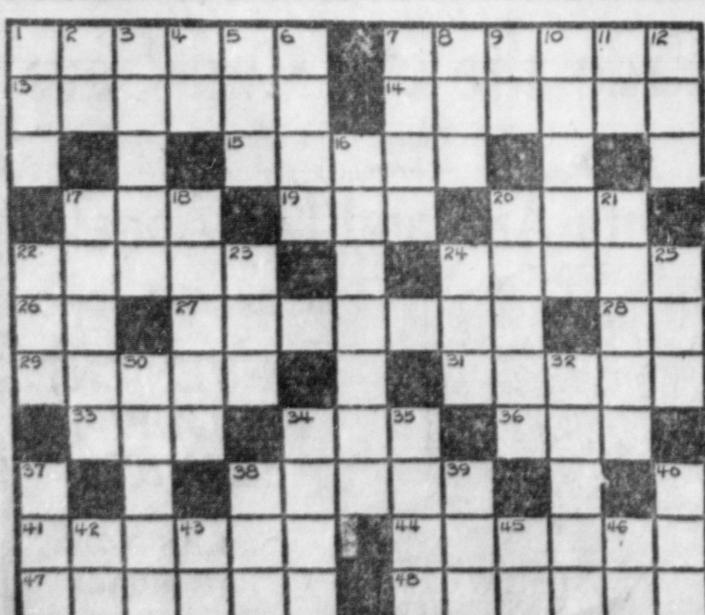

"Don't let high pressure salesmen sell you questionable advertising propositions. If you work out a plan in advance, you won't have money to waste on such foolishness.

"Stick to proven advertising mediums—the newspapers, magazines, billboards, car cards, direct advertising—radio, perhaps."

"You're a fine bunch!" said Jack, scornfully looking the group over. "You saw that big stiff strike a little fellow, and not one of you made a move." They gazed at him in silence, angered by his words.

"Come on!" said Jack, accepting the challenge. "Let's go!"

EVENING SALUTATION

The true aim of every one who aspires to be a teacher should be not to impart his own opinions, but to kindle minds.—Robertson.

NEARLY THIRTY MILLIONS

Tremendously interesting is the report of County Horticultural Commissioner Brock, appearing in today's Register, showing the total agricultural production of Orange county for the past year to have been $29,968,060.20. It is interesting, not merely because it shows an increase in the county wealth production, from $25,629,447.39 in 1925 to nearly $30,000,000 in 1926, but because it brings strikingly to mind some very pertinent developments in relation to oranges, lemons, walnuts and beans, which are our major crops.

In the past few years, sugar beets have dwindled from a major crop into a position with the lesser crops. Walnuts have had a bad year or two, but this year gives promise of seeing the walnut back in its stable position held for many years. Lima beans and their sister bean crops had an excellent year in 1926, with the outlook for a bigger and better year in 1927.

The importance of the Valencia orange in this county is pictured in a clear-cut way. Two-thirds of the money brought into the county through its crops is brought by the Valencia. With hundreds of acres of young trees not yet in bearing or just in bearing, the production will increase for some years to come.

Whatever place the newcomers may have in our scheme of developing realty values and business increase, whatever tourist trade may mean, whatever effect manufacturing has made or is making for itself in some of the cities of the county, the real backbone of the county's prosperity is told in County Horticultural Commissioner Brock's report. Therein lies sufficient argument for whole-souled, active support from every portion of Orange county in giving aid to the welfare of our crop producers.

FIGHTING FOR BOULDER DAM

The achievement of Senator Hiram Johnson in resisting all efforts of opponents to displace the Boulder Dam bill as the unfinished business of the congressional session through twenty-nine hours of continuous session is hailed at Washington as one of the big events of the present session. During all that period Senator Johnson remained on the floor and successfully met every effort to displace the bill or force an amendment. By sheer force of personality Senator Johnson held the Senate in session through the entire night and up to the regular meeting time at noon yesterday. It is considered a great tribute to him that despite the unseemly hours he was able to retain a quorum through many roll calls, the majority of his colleagues standing by him in his efforts to bring the measure to a vote, despite the desperate filibustering and obstructive tactics of the two senators from Arizona. The resourcefulness and fine generalship displayed by Senator Johnson during the long session has created much comment in the capital. He is, at this writing, continuing his efforts to keep the Boulder Dam bill before the Senate until it comes to a vote.

While the fight in the House of Representatives has not taken on the spectacular features found in the Senate, yet the results obtained there by Congressman Phil D. Swing are a striking tribute to the tenacity, resourcefulness and standing of our Congressman. Fired by the tremendous blighting force of the power interests, Swing has made substantial progress, yesterday's decision by the Rules Committee being classed at Washington as a signal personal victory for Congressman Swing as well as recognition of the great importance of the Swing-Johnson bill.

DOUGHBOYS ABROAD

France is making elaborate preparations for welcoming and entertaining the American Legionnaires when they go to Paris for their convention next summer. There will be ample accommodations for them in the gay capital, and every facility for revisiting the scenes where they fought and suffered.

England, too, is getting into the game, though it isn't England's party. There is a "Come to Britain" organization, making special inducements for the doughboys to visit that country. They will find it easier to get into England, and easy to get around when there. Not the least of the attractions offered to lure them is the opportunity of attending summer schools at the universities. English colleges will compete with the Paris boulevards for their patronage.

Europe may dislike America, but there need be no fear of that dislike being visited upon the American soldiers. Memory of the help they brought in a time of great trouble, and the spirit in which they brought it, will revive at the sight of them. They are good ambassadors. Their presence abroad may bring a fairer, kindlier feeling toward their country.

WATCHING NEW THINGS

One of the interesting things revealed about Thomas A. Edison on his eightieth birthday concerned the pigeonholes in his desk. These are labeled according to the contents intended for them. One is reserved for "New Things."

When an eighty-year-old man keeps an interest in "new things" he is doing something as much out of the ordinary as when he invents the things Edison has invented. Too often, the past is perfect, the present a good deal out of hand and the future hopeless to a man of Edison's age.

Sometimes that is the attitude of younger folk, too. Such persons, people who have no cubbyholes in their desks or their minds or their interests for new things, are not the ones who are getting the most out of living or contributing the most to life.

Call It Avocado

New York Times

The next time you closet yourself to learn French, and then surprise your friends by asking, in that language, for ham and eggs, just remember more prestige can be gained merely by calling "alligator pears" avocados. For that, according to a statement issued yesterday from the California Avocado Growers' Exchange, is what they are.

It seems that in 1896 Sir Hans Sloane, secretary of the Royal Society in London, somehow got hold of the word "ahuacate" and made "avocado" out of it. It was eventually seized by the growers of pears, but not until the product had become "alligator pears."

"That the avocado, an exalted member of the laurel family, should be called an alligator pear is beyond all understanding," ran a recent plea. "The avocado, as a matter of fact, bears no resemblance to an alligator, or a pair of alligators, or whatever the alligator mistakes for a pear."

Continuing, the announcement says that the term "alligator pears" is ruining the avocado business.

Oranges of Three Counties

Riverside Press

Orange county citrus growers claim that the citrus crop of Orange county brought $21,000,000 for the year 1926. Those figures seem a trifle high, but may be gross returns. Orange county will ship this season about 14,000 cars as compared to 8400 for Riverside county, about 70 per cent more. The estimated net return to Riverside county is $10,000,000 and figuring returns on the same basis, Orange county returns should be $17,000,000. Riverside county navels sell higher than those from Orange county but their Valencia command a higher price; the average returns per car would therefore be about the same. The crop return for Riverside county are startling and those of Orange county even more so. San Bernardino county will ship a little over 13,000 cars and the returns will run very close to those of Orange county. The citrus crop of those three counties will bring in close to $45,000,000, which is certainly "going some."

CAUSE OF VARICOSE VEINS MAY BE REMOTE
When enlarged veins occur in any part of the body they may be due to various factors; sometimes they are due to interference of the return flow of the blood in the veins by blocking, resulting from any one of a number of causes.

Sometimes the enlarged veins are due to the fact that the person is constantly standing on his feet, and by the very force of gravity the valves in the veins are broken down and the settling of the blood causes enlargement. In other instances the cause is that the heart is too weak to pump, resulting in inability to force the blood into the remote portions of the body and on through to a return.

Obviously, where the cause of the varicosity is at some distant point, the first important step is to treat the cause rather than the condition itself. Sometimes the varicosity is helped by wearing a suitably fitted elastic garment, which tends to give external support to the weakened vessel.

In other instances, physicians have been able to remove the varicose veins by surgical operation, either tying them off below so that the blood would not circulate through them, but would be taken up by other blood vessels, or in some instances removing them entirely.

A Swiss surgeon, in 1904, recommended a method for destroying the varicose veins without taking them from the body. This method consisted of the injection of caustic drugs which irritated the walls of the blood vessel and caused it to close up. When the caustic substance is put into the vein the blood is coagulated. Apparently this clot is so firm that it is unlikely to become dislodged. Indeed, a few instances are reported in which portions of such clots have become dislodged and caused serious symptoms elsewhere in the body.

However, it is advised that care be taken to have the vein as free from blood as possible at the time the injections are made. Obviously, the method of treatment which has been described is one which must be undertaken by a competent physician or surgeon who is thoroughly familiar with the possibilities and with the care of the patient after the injection.

The Chinese, it is said, are incapable of self-government; hence it is the white man's duty to maintain concessions and courts and armed camps on Chinese territory.

Maybe it's so. But listen to this:

In Tsing Tau a certain editor was a violent critic of the Chinese police administration. Did the police take violent measures against him? Ah, no. They

Your Income Tax

This is one of a series of articles, based on the revenue act of 1926, written by the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue.

No. 34

Various penalties are imposed by the revenue act of 1926 for failure to file a return and pay the tax on time, and for making a fraudulent return. Distinction is made between failure and "willful failure" to file a return. For failure to file a return on time, the penalty is 25 per cent of the amount of the tax, unless a return is later filed and it is satisfactorily shown to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that such failure was due to a reasonable cause and not to willful neglect. If a taxpayer exercised ordinary business care and prudence, and nevertheless was unable to file a return within the prescribed time, the delay is due to a "reasonable cause."

For willful failure to make a return the penalty is not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, and in addition 25 per cent of the amount of the tax. For willfully making a false or fraudulent return, the penalty is not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years, or both, and in addition 50 per cent of the amount of the tax, in case of a deficiency.

If there is a deficiency, there is added 5 per cent of the amount of the deficiency if due to negligence, but without intent to defraud. If due to fraud, the amount added in addition is 50 per cent of the deficiency.

Government Hinders Fiction

New York Times

Governments are rarely romantic nowadays. But the Biological Survey, which spends much of its time in the pursuit of knowledge about such enthralling things as bears and mountain lions, chameleons, pack rats and mouse-traps, usually tells about them with accuracy sometimes tinged with humor.

As a rule the Biological Survey has confined itself to a discussion of facts, without either enlarging or denying fancies. Not only has it never tilted at windmills, but it has not even crusaded against the horsehair rope coiled about the sleeping bag at night will keep off venomous reptiles because the hairs in the rope tickle the snakes' stomachs, and snakes, as we all know, are excessively ticklish.

At last, however, it is puncturing bubbles. Hoop-snakes do not roll, it says, nor do snakes sting with their tails. But—and this is the greatest heresy of all—stout leather boots and leggings are more effective against snake-bites than horsehair larvats, snake gourds or other charms. They are better, even than poison gas. This piece of news will comfort those who before going into the wilderness have had trouble in obtaining a flask of phosgene to put on the other hip.
